Prakash Tajpuriya

Web Developer (Back-end AND Front-end)

I serve as a web developer, specializing in back-end development but also having experience in front-end technologies. I am currently studying bachelor's degree in information technology and computer science, and I approach every project with sincerity and a positive outlook. I am ready to give value to any internship opportunity with my talents and passion, as well as my great eye for detail and friendly nature.

ACHIEVEMENTS

Nationwide Hackathon, Provathon 20.21 (winner)

Myself and the other four members of our team won the deserved first place in the Nationwide Hackathon, Provathon 20.21, which was hosted by CSIT Nepal, Purwanchal. Our winning idea was to improve accessibility and inclusivity in education for people with physical disabilities by offering digital education for the disabled. This achievement not only demonstrates our capacity for teamwork but also our dedication to using technology to advance society.
